

WILLCOX CLAIMS 366 ELECTORS

State by Over 100,000 for Hughes — Brooklyn
by 5,000

Chairman William R. Willcox of the Republican National Committee in his final campaign prediction yesterday prophesied the election of Charles E. Hughes by at least 100 majority in the Electoral College. He declared that this majority probably would be much larger. He issued a general statement without naming states, and referred to the claims of Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, as "extraneous."

After receiving reports from most of the states throughout the country, the Republican belief of the members of the national campaign committee is that Mr. Hughes will have at least 100 majority in the Electoral College, and that the Democratic vote will be less than 100. This fight has been won, Mr. Willcox said.

Mr. McCormick's Record Cited
"So far as the claims of our opponents are concerned, it is a matter of record that Mr. McCormick was running for Governor of Pennsylvania in 1914, and that he was defeated by Mr. Hughes."

These extravagant claims are the inevitable accompaniment of the Democratic in Presidential campaigns. Our opponents have always elected their candidates by a large majority in the electoral college, but they have never carried the State of Pennsylvania, and on Election Day, they will inevitably fail on Tuesday.

Chairman Willcox's prediction gives Mr. Hughes at least 100 electoral votes, and the rest of the country is necessary for a victory. He said that to latest reports from Ohio placed that state safely in the Republican column. The Republicans would carry Michigan, he declared, where a doubt had been recently. New York State, he believed, will give Hughes a majority of between 100,000 and 200,000. He was unwilling to concede the Democratic candidate any state as a sure majority of the twelve in the Solid South.

Herbert Parsons and George W. Perkins, members of the Republican National Campaign Committee, agreed with Willcox's forecast. Mr. Parsons declared that Hughes would carry this state by not less than 100,000. He gave Wilson not over 20,000 plurality in greater New York and between 10,000 and 20,000 in Manhattan. Two weeks ago Mr. Parsons placed the Tammany plurality in New York City at 50,000, but he said recent revision led him to cut out 35,000 Democratic votes.

Mr. Parsons agreed with the claims of the Brooklyn leaders that Kings County would go Republican by about 5,000. He believed it would be about 10,000. He gave Wilson about 30,000 in Queens County, with an even break in Queens County, with a Democratic majority in the Bronx of between 5,000 and 10,000.

Brooklyn by 5,000
P. J. H. Keane, the Brooklyn Republican leader, who has managed Governor Whitman's campaign, claimed New York State for the entire Republican ticket by 100,000 or better. Brooklyn would give Hughes and Whitman 50,000 majority, he said, with William M. Calder, candidate for United States Senator, who lives in Brooklyn, receiving about 30,000 majority over his Democratic opponent, William F. McCombs, in that borough.

Chairman Frederick C. Tanner of the Republican State Committee will give a statement to-morrow on the vote of the state by counties. Meanwhile, he said he stands by his recent prediction that Hughes and the Republican state ticket would win by 100,000. Samuel S. Koenig, chairman of the Republican County Committee, will issue his final estimate of the vote by Assembly districts in New York County. "All I can say to-day is," said Mr. Koenig, "that in my judgment Wilson's plurality in Manhattan will be less than 10,000. To-morrow I will be prepared to give out figures by Assembly districts to substantiate this."

Eleven Assembly districts are claimed by the county chairman as sure for Hughes, four classes as doubtful and seventeen given to the Democrats. In the normal Republican Assembly districts the pluralities would be bigger than ever before, Mr. Koenig declared, with the pluralities in the Democratic strongholds materially cut down.

Report Democrats Discouraged
The late confidential reports from all over the state received by the Republican leaders indicate that the Democrats have given up their campaign in the face of certain defeat. With Kings, Albany and Erie counties giving substantial Republican majorities, it was pointed out that no hope was left for the Democrats. The best the Democratic leaders can figure on Manhattan, The Bronx and Queens is from 40,000 to 45,000, these reports say. The most conservative Republican estimates bring Hughes down to The Bronx with 120,000 majority, which leaves a margin in the state of 25,000. The local Republican leaders base their low estimates of the Tammany majority in New York County on their belief that Kings will give a fairly good majority to the state and national tickets and Queens will break about evenly.

For the last two weeks, or since the talk of a slump in New York State began, confidential agents of some of the leaders, who were instructed to canvass the situation impartially, have been through all the counties. They have not worked with the local organizations anywhere. According to the reports received from these sources, a complete reversal of the more or less doubtful feeling of two or three weeks ago has been found. They reported an awakening of keen Republican interest and assertions of confidence which were lacking three or four weeks ago.

65,000 IN GREAT HUGHES PARADE

picturesque features which caught the fancy and the applause of the crowds along the line of march. Whole regiments carried red, white and blue lanterns. The 3,000 men in the jewelry division each wore a golden fez with a white pompadour and a cape sweeping to the waist. Each man carried a lantern, from which the light filtered through golden glass. At the head of each regiment was borne a banner flanked by seven-foot golden torches, giving light through clusters of incandescents.

The drum men carried great searchlights, mounted on motor car chassis, that darted into the faces of the on-lookers, up to the windows of the flanking houses and back and forth toward the skies. The uptown drygoods men waved electric torches, that darted into the faces of the on-lookers, up to the windows of the flanking houses and back and forth toward the skies. The uptown drygoods men wore white caps.

Some Striking Transparencies
Many groups suggested patriotic scenes. One represented soldiers of the Revolution. They marched to the sound of life and drum, and their standard bearer bore aloft this transparency: "Secretary Baker is wrong. These gentlemen did not steal."

Other transparencies proclaimed: "Baker's bad character of history: Paul Revere and Pinckney Villa." "Woodrow Wilson has dimmed the brightness of Old Glory." "What is the judgment of society—Was George Washington the Father of his Country or a chicken thief? Ask Secretary Baker; he knows." "Boyd and Adair, victims of the peace that Wilson kept."

"Where did Wilson find Daniels? Answer—in Gilbert and Sullivan's 'Pinafore'." Excitement attended the start of the parade, at Broadway and Worth Street, when a can of flashlight powder exploded in the hands of a newspaper photographer. The camera man and his assistant were badly burned.

Mr. Hughes was just about to step into his automobile when the accident occurred. Persons in the crowd thought an attempt had been made to harm the candidate. Grand Marshal Sherrill told newspaper men an attempt had been made on the life of Mr. Hughes by two men, who, after attempting to break through the police lines, had thrown a bomb at him. Just as Mr. Hughes stepped into his automobile a light rain began to fall, but the paraders and onlookers alike stood their ground, and after a few minutes the downpour ceased. A striking feature of Mr. Hughes's progress up the avenue was an electric light at the foot of the car, which threw the candidate's features into bold relief as he sat in the machine.

A giant electric design of the Republican eagle, with wings widely stretched from curb to curb, headed the drygoods division. It bore the legend: PROTECTION AND PROSPERITY. HUGHES AND FAIRBANKS. Criticisms of the Wilson administration were widely utilized.

AMERICAN FIRST AND NOBODY SECOND. PEACE CONTINUES TO RAGE IN MEXICO.

Women See Marchers
At no point along the line of march, except at the stand in front of the Union League Club, was more enthusiasm shown for all sections of the parade than at the Waldorf-Astoria. A number of women guests, unable to find suitable vantage points at the crowded windows, threw scarves and canes over their thin evening dresses and braved the damp night air on the sidewalk. In the crowd on the Waldorf corner were a few Wilson sympathizers.

"Hoch der Kaiser! Vote for Wilson!" yelled an old man in the group. He did admit that he thought as

BROOKLYN COLD TO DEMOCRATS

Small Audience Greeted Glynn, McCombs, James
and Seabury

Although William F. McCombs, Martin H. Glynn, Senator Ollie James and Samuel Seabury were among the speakers at the Democratic meeting at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn last night, half the seats were empty when John J. Curtin, chairman of the meeting, called it to order. It was not until scouts had been sent out to drum up trade that even the main floor and first balcony assumed an appearance of interest.

Mr. McCombs explained his action in refusing to take the post of Ambassador to France, which caused rumors after Wilson's inauguration that there was a breach in their intimacy. "I didn't want to go," he said. "I am not an office seeker, I am a humanitarian."

He did admit that he thought as

United States Senator he would have a pretty good opportunity to do some humanitarian work. It was the Democratic party, he said, which had written "humanitarianism" on the statute books of the nation.

Martin H. Glynn revealed a Lincoln story which he thought proved beyond question that President Wilson was a second Lincoln. Lincoln, he said, was sauntering down Pennsylvania Avenue when, in front of the old Willard, he saw a crowd. He thrust a passage through the gathering. Mr. Glynn continued, and discovered what had caused the statesmen and business men of the capital to pause. It was a beetle, on its back and waving helpless legs in the air. Motioning the nearest spectators to one side, the President knelt and placed the beetle right side up again.

"If I hadn't turned that beetle over and given him an equal chance with all the rest of the bugs in the world," Mr. Glynn quoted Lincoln as saying to the abashed statesmen and business men, "I wouldn't have been able to sleep to-night."

That was just like Wilson, the speaker continued, always striving to put his fellow beings on their feet and give them an equal chance. John Wesley, too, had a bit of the Wilson in him, Mr. Glynn declared, for his motto, "Do all the good you can to all the people you can as long as you can," would have been plagiarism if he had lived in Wilson's time. "Do all the people as often as you can," suggested a person in the audience, who appeared to have misunderstood the tenor of Mr. Glynn's remarks. The speaker ignored him.

CLAIMS MIDDLE WEST FOR G. O. P.

Hert Includes Kentucky,
Wisconsin, Ohio and Missouri

Chicago, Nov. 4.—The managers of the Western Republican and Democratic national headquarters finished their work to-day and announced that the national campaign in the territory under their direction, the states lying between Ohio and the Pacific Coast, was ended. Heads of departments in both headquarters sent out final instructions to their field lieutenants, discharged their force of office assistants and left for their homes to vote next Tuesday. The managers will remain until after election to close up the last of their business.

Alvin T. Hert, manager of Western Republican headquarters, issued a final statement, in which he said: "Hughes and Fairbanks are sure to carry the following states, with a total electoral vote of 557, and thereby will secure a large majority in the Electoral College: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Washington, Oregon and California.

"The Republican ticket also probably will be successful in Nebraska. There is a good prospect of carrying Colorado, Maryland, Montana, Nevada and Arizona."

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, manager of Western Democratic national headquarters, said his detailed tabulated prediction has been incorporated in the statement issued by Vance C. McCormick in New York.

"I believe President Wilson will be re-elected by the largest popular vote ever given a candidate for President in the history of the country," said Senator Walsh. Miss Harriet E. Vittum, director of the woman's department at Western Republican national headquarters, issued a statement analyzing the situation in the twelve woman suffrage states. She said: "The swing of the last ten days to Mr. Hughes has been perhaps more noticeable in the woman's department than in any other."

"The next House of Representatives will be Republican by a margin of at least 45." Mrs. George Bass, in charge of the woman's department at Western Democratic national headquarters, said the women of all parties in the twelve suffrage states were strongly for Wilson. The Anderson Playerpiano
With Metal Playerpiano Action—(Patented)

12 Reasons Why You Should Buy the Anderson & Co. Playerpiano

1. The tubing of the metal action is seamless brass.
2. It is heavily nickel-plated, which makes it impervious to rust.
3. It contains metal tubing throughout.
4. It contains a tension brake, in the spool box, something found in no other action made.
5. This tension brake gives an even tension on the music roll.
6. It rewinds the music tight to the spool (an important feature).
7. The Metal action does not shrink or swell.
8. It stands like a rock, regardless of dampness or heat.
9. The Anderson metal action Playerpiano is the most simple action on the market. Practically every vital part can be reached instantly from the front, without it being necessary to remove the entire action from the Piano. It is the easiest to pump ever made, and the most sensitive. What is more desirable in the home than a Playerpiano that each one of the family can operate, without any exertion whatever?
10. Another feature of great value is the roller bearing pedal connections.
11. These pedals are packed in grease, making squeaks impossible, and never requiring oiling.
12. Every part of the ANDERSON METAL ACTION IS GUARANTEED FOR FIVE YEARS, and will be replaced with a new part without any expense.
